Hear what others have to say about Doc's class:

Since taking Doc's class I have learned about correct stance, planning transitions from gun to gun and mentally preparing for a stage. I think the one thing that helped me the most was becoming aware of what I was seeing, or should be seeing while I am shooting. Before taking his class I wouldn't be able to tell you why I missed a shot but now that my level of awareness has increased I know what I've done wrong when I miss and I know what to do next time to avoid it. My misses have also gone down dramatically! I give Doc a lot of the credit for me being able to shoot my first End of Trail with only 2 misses on twelve stages and placing 5th in my category and earning a buckle. The confidence that I have gained in my shooting after taking Doc's class helped me immensely in achieving my goal of winning the Ladies Oregon State Championship in 2006. This class was well worth the time and money!

Thanks Doc!!

Buckshot Shell-E

Before Doc moved out to the west coast where I live, I was an undisciplined, inaccurate, and generally mediocre shooter. I didn't completely understand how to read stages or how to plan them so that I wouldn't get confused or do them as quickly as possible.

Within weeks of his moving into my area I had cut my misses in half at least, he taught me how to plan stages and take time off of transitions and how to do things simply so that I didn't get off track. About 6 months after he moved into my area I placed 9th at End of Trail. My best previous placing was 33rd. A year after that I won End of Trail.

Doc Shapiro is the best person in this sport that I have met at compiling, organizing, and coherently expressing the strategies, regimens, and information of the best shooters in the sport. He knows what he is talking about and he can help make anyone a better shooter.

There is no doubt in my mind that if I hadn't gotten to practice with and learn from Doc Shapiro, I would not have won End of Trail or been nearly as good as I am now.

I took the first one-day class and plan on taking the two-day class this spring. The information and direct assistance has helped my shooting, and made it more fun! All the information is relevant to improving my stance, how I handle my guns, how I think of the stage. The shoot following the training, I felt better, shot better (missing a clean shoot by one miss). The next shoot I shot a clean match and shot my best time yet. I attribute it to Doc's training, both verbal and his book! Well worth the time and money to take it!

There are so many things I learned I don't know where to start. Knowing where your guns are hitting was a big factor. One gun was hitting 3 inches to the left and a gunsmith at the shoot corrected that. One of the major things I learned, was learning to shoot fast, it doesn't come naturally. Muscle memory was another factor. It is a whole bunch of little things put together that makes a difference. I work on different things at club shoots. I look at club shoots as live practice for the things learned at Doc's school. One of the big things I also learned at the school was to use smoother shotgun shells so they will drop out of the double I use. I am now reloading shotgun shells.

~~Doc Shapiro and Badlands Bud~~ somehow were able to teach me how to strive to improve my match performance. The result is to enjoy CAS in ways I never expected. The time and tuition were well worth the investment. I never realized how much fun you could have as a gamer.....It was especially beneficial to shoot on the same posse with them for a couple days after their day-long class, a sort of extended 'hands on' training segment....

This class was like going from 'bang-bang-bang' to 'bangclang-bangclang-bangclang'....with a BIG smile.....

... I'll see you at the finish line.....
